

An online webinar on the theme "Theoretical and methodological foundations of scientific activity."

An online webinar on "Theoretical and methodological bases of scientific activity" was organized on September 30 in cooperation with the Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanization Engineers and the Tashkent State Agrarian University. At the webinar, Dusmurotov Rajabboy Davletbayevich, Head of the Department of Accounting, Analysis, and Auditing of Tashkent State Agrarian University, Doctor of Philology, Professor, "Excellence in Higher Education of Uzbekistan" shared his research experience.

In webinar spoke about the general (theoretical and empirical) methods used in research and their classification, the use of theoretical and empirical methods in research. During the webinar, participants learned about the method, methodology; General scientific methods used in scientific research; the Formation of research methodology; They got acquainted with the methodological ideas of the IT, the work program, and plan, and received answers to their questions. The webinar was full of lively questions and answers. The webinar was attended by doctoral students, masters, and young professors.

Information prepared by Sh.Basitkhanova, 1st category engineer of IT

Press service of TIAME