

Innovative technologies in practice

September 27th in the "Polati" farm, Kasan district, Kashkadarya region was held a conference on the basis of the memorandum signed between the Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanization Engineers and the Xinjiang Institute of Ecology and Geography of the Chinese Academy of Sciences and according to "Green Aral Sea Megascience Initiative" in collaboration with the departments of "Hydraulics and Hydroinformatics" and "Hydrology and Hydrogeology" and project No.2019-2-01 "Исследование водного баланса и анализ тенденций в Республике Каракалпакстан."

At this conference, modern irrigation techniques and technologies were presented to the audience. Young scientists and students of various ministries, regional and district administrations, water and agriculture specialists, research institutes, the Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanization Engineers and its Karshi branch attended at the conference. They shared their experiences, improved their knowledge and skills.

Press service of TIIAME