

The biggest discovery is to discover yourself!

Youth is the most precious wealth. It should not be lost and wasted. A training seminar was held on January 31 for our students to gain a deeper understanding of the essence of this idea. The event was opened by Vice-Rector for Youth Affairs R.K.Choriev. The training was delivered by Muhammadali Eshankulov, a lecturer at the University of World Economy and Diplomacy.

During the training, students received answers to important questions such as life planning, successes, personal discoveries, and good career choices. The most effective moment was that, the examples presented to our students were based on specific examples and narratives from the lives of our ancestors, instead of any foreign scholars' research. The trainer's ability to manage the audience aroused great interest among the students.

It was said that planning for life is a daily plan, hard work is at the heart of every success, and that a person can achieve high goals in the profession he loves. Demand for human resources and the labor market is growing, it is explained that it requires students to work hard to become a valuable human resource. We thank Muhammadali Eshankulov for a wonderful and informative training! Knowledge becomes valuable if theory is put into practice. Go ahead dear students; we are the owners of the future!
