

A great respect for dedicated teachers

Undeniably, there are many professions in the world, each of which has its own place and significance in life. But among them there is one big profession, on the basis of which all other professions are formed and developed. This is the profession of a teacher. This is the profession of a teacher. The teachers of the department- docents S.E.Nurjanov, assistants - S.M.Kodirov va K. Sh. Eshquvatov made a visit to the house of Umarova Muattar Rashidovna, associate professor of the Department of Geology and Hydrogeology, who managed to train thousands of students and left a great scientific legacy for future generations. During the visit, the teacher shared with good memories from her teaching experience, teachers and students of today and past. At the end of the visit, the representatives of the institute there were presented souvenirs to the dedicated teacher.
