

Deputy - defender of the interests of the people

All over the world, in every developed and socio-economic sphere, where the population has all the amenities, people are satisfied with the rule of law and the work of the judiciary. Where there is the rule of law and order, there will be development. An important component of a democratic state governed by the rule of law is a strong and fair judicial and legal system that guarantees the protection of the rights and interests of citizens, which, in turn, creates conditions for the country's prosperity and progress. One of the key elements of increasing the attractiveness of the legislative branch is the Legislative Chamber of the Oliy Majlis. The legislative branch is the most important component of state power. At the same time, this system provides ample opportunities for our youth and allows them to try their hand at responsible work. In order to ensure the implementation of the State Program "Year of Development of Science, Education, and the Digital Economy", draft resolutions of the Kengash of the Senate on the creation of a Youth Parliament under the Senate of the Oliy Majlis of the Republic of Uzbekistan, the Regulation of the Youth Parliament and the Program of Measures to create and ensure the effectiveness of the Youth Parliament have been developed.

As you know, under quarantine conditions, many higher education institutions organize online conferences, online forums, online meetings. Active students of the Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanization Engineers have also planned such online dialogues. The guest of the online dialogue was Rasul Kuserbayev, a deputy of the Legislative Chamber of the Oliy Majlis of the Republic of Uzbekistan, an active supporter on ensuring openness, freedom of speech and the press. He always lives with the problems of the population and stands out among the deputies for his diligence in resolving conflicts between districts and mahallas. Participants were originally registered through Zoom. Chairman of the Republican Council of Higher Education, rector of the Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanization Engineers Umurzakov Uktam Paradaevich opened an online dialogue on the topic "Youth Parliament, youth reforms in legislation" and expressed his warm wishes to those present. More than 400 participants took part in an online dialogue that took place as part of the Zoom program, others in a live broadcast on Facebook. Rasul Kuserbayev spoke about the work of the Legislative Chamber of the Oliy Majlis. In order to make significant changes in any area, everyone must make radical decisions in their lives. Our guest also advocates being in sight, living with people's pain and acting in accordance with the law in any situation. Kuserbayev dreamed of becoming a pilot, but changed his mind and decided to use his knowledge potential in the interests of people. He entered the International Journalism Department of the State University of World Languages.

Then came the turn of interactive questions. Moderators asked students and participants questions about the Youth Parliament, the problems faced by the population, and the education system. Rasul Kuserbayev answered each of the questions as much as possible and gave his suggestions and conclusions on what initiatives should be taken in these events. He also dwelled on the work of the Youth Parliament, spoke about the problems, as well as the opportunities created for youth.

The rector of the institute Umurzakov Uktam Paradaevich appealed to the deputy on the issues of creating immunity in the minds of young people against corruption in the higher education system, eradicating this evil from the education sector. Rasul Kuserbayev, based on his experience, spoke about the fight against this evil, about the development of legal literacy in the minds of young people. Corruption remains an acute problem at the global level. It is extremely important to raise the legal culture, especially among young people and teachers, as well as to promote their involvement in the ongoing anti-corruption reforms.
