

December 9 - International Anti-Corruption Day

Corruption is a set of crimes committed by officials using the powers of public authority or administration for personal gain or in the interests of others. That is, corruption is a vicious act that involves a number of crimes related to the abuse of power for personal gain. Today in the lecture hall of the faculty "Land Resources Management" on the initiative of the dean of the faculty Sh.Narbaev and the deputy dean for youth H.Eshova was held an event "December 9 - International Anti-Corruption Day". Professors A.Bobojonov, S.Sharipov, chairman of the faculty council A.Mukimov, chairwoman of the women's council O.Rozikulova, head of the faculty D.Jabbarova and first-year students took part in it. Z.Shavkiev, Senior Investigator of the Mirzo Ulugbek District Prosecutor's Office, a guest of the event, informed the audience that the prevention and fight against corruption should be a priority for all state and public organizations and financial institutions. In his speech, he said that a large-scale work is being done to radically improve the education system of the country, increase its quality and efficiency, strengthen the material and technical base of educational institutions. At the same time, efforts are being made to ensure transparency in the admissions process and to prevent corruption and bribery in education. Information was provided on the work done in the field of education in the fight against corruption this year.

Press service of TIAME