

Elderly people are always honored

Attitudes toward place and the noble merits of man are directly imbued with memory and the notion of value. We must not forget that our lives today are the contribution of the suffering and suffering of our ancestors. In their figure is the story of our lives today, with wrinkled faces, cracked eyes, and pain in their hands and feet.

In connection with the celebration of the Day of "Memory and Honour" on May 9, the staff of Karshi branch of the Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanization Engineers received information about the state of war veteran Soatov Ruzi Baba, born in 1926, who lives in Samarkand MIPT, Nishan district, Kashkadarya region. Soatov Ruzi Baba told the staff of the branch and members of the public about the labors that were smoked during the war, and how to appreciate peace these days.
