

memory that became sacred

We remember with respect the people who fought for our peaceful, happy life and for the independence of our country and gave their lives along the way. To perpetuate their memory, high-level events are held throughout the republic, including at our institute. Our present day proves that the noble goals of humanism and all-round support for the population are at the root of the reforms currently underway in our country.

Head of the Department of "Electrical Engineering and Mechatronics" R.J. Baratov and associate professor B.N Erkinova in connection with the celebration of May 9 Day of "memory and honors" and the upcoming holiday Eid MA visited the house Tajiev.
