

in the home of a respected woman

As we all know, May 9, 1945-Day of Victory over fascism, which shook the world, dried the pillows of millions of people, destroyed their lives, devastated their hearts. On this great day, all of us, first of all, have a duty to bow before the sacred memory of thousands and thousands of our compatriots who did not return from the battlefields, to pay tribute to their spiritual values. In order to widely celebrate this day in accordance with the Presidential Decree № PP-5081 of April 20, 2021 "On measures for the preparation and holding the Day of Remembrance and Honors", May 9, like in all regions of the country, the institute celebrated "Day of Remembrance and Honors". In particular, residents of the mahallas close to the Institute, participants of the Great Patriotic War and honorary teachers of the Institute.

✘ In these good deeds, a group of faculty members of the department of "hydraulics and hydroinformatics" together with the deputy chairman of Lashkarbeginsky MIPT women's issues Zulfiya Rasulova visited the home of a 97-year-old respected woman, participant of the Great Patriotic War, holder of several orders and medals, labor veteran Shevchenko Catherine Nikolayevna, who lives in Lashkarbegi MIPT Mirzo-Ulugbek district of our city. They sent their sincere congratulations to the Rector of the Institute Prof. Umurzakov.

✘ During her visit Ekaterina Nikolayevna told about the war: during the war she was 16 years old, she worked as a nurse in a military hospital, provided medical care to thousands of soldiers and saved their souls. The visit was full of sincere conversations, at the end of which it was frankly acknowledged that peace and tranquility is the greatest good of our peaceful life.
