

Meeting with Professor Davron Matrasulov

It is almost impossible to overestimate the importance of physics in everyday life. Physics is everywhere. All the blessings of civilization have become possible thanks to scientific discoveries, including in physics.

At the initiative of the rector, an event was organized at the institute, in which a leading specialist in economics, doctor of physical and mathematical sciences, professor Davron Matrasulov took an active part. The professor provided detailed information on modern innovations and nanotechnology.

Press service of TIIAME