Activities in experimental places

Head of the department of Hydraulic structures and engineering constructions, Doctor of technical sciences, Professor Bakiev Masharif Ruzmetovich, and Associate professor Uktam Abdurakhimovich Kakhkhorov participate in scientific experiments on soil compaction during the construction of the PSKOM HES. Field experiments are carried out in accordance with the requirements of the relevant regulatory documents. The involvement of leading scientists of our institute in field experiments, design, and construction work on such real objects is an important step in ensuring the integration of science, education, and production!
