

A land whose women are respected

The world marked by the fact that March 8 is International Women's Day. A woman is a respectable creature who can touch the cradle with one hand and the other. That is why during the years of independence, women in the country have been receiving unlimited respect, and their role in the life of our society is increasing year by year. Faculty of "Mechanization of hydromeliorative works" read the congratulatory message of the rector of the institute to the students of the faculty and female professors. The dean of faculty B.Norov and the pro-rector on international relations A.Salokhiddinov congratulated women of our faculty on their holiday and handed them gifts to a group of women who wish them good health and exemplary in their hard work and dedication.
