

Being polite is the best way to the success

It is interesting to note that on October 8, 2021, senior lecturer of the Department of Land Management Z. Khafizova and psychologist of the Institute M.K. Mukhamedova held a round table on the topic "Being polite is the best way to the success". The event was dedicated to the role and importance of etiquette in human life. Our society has such a well-structured language. The reason of why to the Uzbek language is paid so much attention in our society is due to the closeness of this very language to the heart. It has been pointed out that the gossip, libel, slander and perjury that may occur can undermine the foundations of love between people.

The meeting participants were informed that another factor that makes human morality beautiful is communication with good people, and such conversations fill a person's heart with a model of behavior and encourage him to do good deeds. There was a lively discussion that good manners enhance the beauty and splendor of all people, that where there is no good manners, there will be mistakes and shortcomings, and that a person must first follow the advice he gives to others. Event: Allah gave the blessing to people to speak, and noble people said: "If a person wants to do good with the world of wealth, his wealth can dry up in one day. But a person can reach a treasure, which is not limited by how much he or she spends. It's a world that full of wonders.
