

Fighting corruption is an important task

On the occasion of the International Anti-Corruption Day, the head of the Department of Electrical Engineering and Mechatronics R.Zh. Baratov and teachers of the faculty met with first-year students of the direction of education "Technical expertise and marketing of techniques and technology." Associate Professor A. Denmukhammadiev said that the country consistently carries out actions to prevent and combat corruption. Meanwhile, the students got acquainted with the teaching staff of the department, and also received answers to questions to them in their field.

Press service of TIAME