

Scientific seminar within the framework of the memorandum

Today at the University of Lleida, Spain in collaboration with the Department of Humanitarian sciences of TIIAME and the research groups "Studies of the Middle Ages" and "Irrigation and Agriculture of the Middle Ages" has started International Scientific Seminar. This scientific seminar was organized within the framework of a memorandum signed between the University of Leida-Udl (Catalonia, Spain) and TIIAME.

Anthony Grannoller, Vice-Rector for International Relations and Cooperation at Leid University opened the seminar. Dean of the Faculty of Arts, Carme Figuerola, also stressed the importance of this conference. The workshop was moderated by Flozel Sabate, Director of the Joint Center for Medieval Studies.

Head of the Department of Humanitarian sciences Sh.M. Ulzhaeva read a report on the topic "The state of development of irrigation systems during the reign of Amir Temur", Helena Kirshner reported on the topic "Small irrigation systems in the Eastern Andalusian Islands (Balearic Islands, 10-13th centuries), Muazzam Makhmudova, doctoral student at TIIAME, reported on the topic "Irrigation structures during the Timurid period." More than 40 teachers took part in the seminar. The international scientific seminar will continue on April 14, 2021.

Press service of TIIAME