

Conversation with the students who live in rented accommodation

After returning to the traditional form of education in the 2020-2021 academic year, most of the needy students were provided with the rooms in the institute's dormitory. While other students who do not need dormitories are living on rent, depending on their financial situation. In order to get acquainted with the living conditions of such students, and to talk to the hosts, the leader of the group 110 of the "Hydromelioration" Faculty K. Eshkuvatov visited the houses where students are staying. During the conversation, the students were told to remember that they are students of a higher educational institutions and to keep the house clean, to be friendly with neighbors, to communicate with them politely.
