

Lecture of a professor from Kazakhstan

On April 12, 2019 at the Center for retraining and upgrading of pedagogical professionals at the Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanization Engineers , the students of the course "Water management and melioration" will be trained on the Irrigation and Melioration Module of Associate Professor of the Department of "Water Resources" of Taraz State University PhD Dr. Jamalkhan Izteleuovich Minarbekov's activities, educational and methodological and research work carried out by the University Partnerships of the University Information on the Effective Use of Water Resources in Kazakhstan done. Irrigation and Melioration Module "Reasons for salinization of irrigated lands. Anti-Disease Prevention. Salt washing. Prepare land for saline. Terms and conditions of saline washing. Organization of salt washing. Natural and artificial drainage. Structure and function of hydraulic engineering system. Depths, laying them up and calculating the indicators. Dripstones and their application conditions. Corrugated dump, structure and components. Water drainage networks. Principles of designing the damp islands. Drain module. Calculation of drainage loads. Water drainage costs and their hydraulic calculations. Water receivers ". It is interesting to note that the lecture with a theoretical and practical essence was interesting and attractive for all listeners.

Report by J.Kutlimurodov, head of the department

R.Jumaniyozov, the press secretary of the institute