

Remote Enlightenment Communication with Bobur Bobomurod

It is clear that we see in a mirror world observation that a pandemic cannot justify a nation with a strong will, able to adhere to the rules of iron discipline and hygiene. Life goes on, so literature goes on. Poetry is a reflection of the soul, and instantaneous product of mood, emotion. In communication, both kindness and essence are great. That is why Mercy is insight. In any case, we have enough opportunities to satisfy the needs of spiritual, enlightened souls. Diydor is not for vigilant hearts, for true friendship, not for ignorant slaves. Even in quarantine conditions, the organization of such educational events is a sign of true courage and generosity.

Our long-distance conversation with Bobur Bobomurod, a member of the Writers' Union of Uzbekistan, Honored Worker of Culture of Uzbekistan, talented poet, which lasted more than two hours through the ZOOM program, became more interesting and meaningful on May 16 at 15.00. Interesting questions about the poet's poetry and life activities asked by professors, students, and masters, as well as the sincere answers given by the poet, gave spirit and content to the virtual communication. In the context of educational conversations, it is appropriate to give brief information about the hero of this dialogue, which is being organized at the initiative of the Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanization Engineers. Bobur Bobomurod was born in 1968 in the city of Bukhara. He graduated from Bukhara Pedagogical Institute in 1991 with a degree in History and Sociology.

He has been involved in art since his youth. His first book was published on December 25, 1996. Since then, more than a dozen collections of poetry have been published. Member of the Writers' Union of Uzbekistan (since 1998). Honored Worker of Culture of the Republic of Uzbekistan (2010). He is currently engaged in artistic creation and public activities. Married, home to five children, in honor of sweet grandchildren from each other. He is the author of more than a thousand lyrics. It is no coincidence that the lyrics of most of the songs in the creative program of famous singers in our country belong to their pen. He writes thoughtfully, not jokingly. Meaningful text, figurative thinking, allegorical expressions, and expressions, a simple and fluent style close to the heart of the people give immortality to his poems. In fact, this is the position of the poet, the place of the poem. Interestingly, Bobur Bobomurod has creative interactions remotely with specific educational institutions, work teams, and organizations almost every day. The reason is that he has many loyal fans who are valued in all offices and institutions. Because a good poet, a sincere and humble man, a consequent friend is respected everywhere.

Vice-Rector for Youth Affairs of the Institute R. K. Choriev thanked Bobur Bobomurod for his interesting and enlightening conversations on behalf of the pedagogical and student community, as well as the leadership, and wished the poet's future work and creativity the honor of gaining the trust and attention of the people. This video, based on his poems connected with the world and human dignity during the Tajliviir plague, should be brought to your attention like a beacon of the poet's high talent.

TIAME press service