

A visit to the Teacher's house

Kuchkar Khannazarov, a well-educated scientist who worked in responsible positions for many years at scientific research institutes, is at blessing age. He devoted himself to the defense of the Motherland in the Second World War, and showed his bravery behind the front. On January 14, a visit was paid to the house of 97-year-old Kannar Kuchkar Khanchatovich on behalf of the administration of the institute on the occasion of the Day of Defenders of the Motherland. He was delighted from our visit. Once again, we have felt the need to do this kind of good deeds every single time.
