

Learning is the key

Under the leadership of Adham Mamataliev, Associate Professor of "Irrigation and Melioration" department students of group 402 of "Water Management and Melioration" visited Abulkasim madrasah in Tashkent. The purpose of the visit was to introduce to the students the history of the madrasah, built on the traditions of oriental architecture, to acquaint them with the high level of science development, education and culture, our historical achievements and traditions, to enrich their imagination in this field.

Abulqasim Madrasah was built in 1850 and is a place of enlightenment that contributed to the development of many intellectuals of the local and Central Asian peoples. In particular, Abdulla Qodiri, Munavvarqori Abdurashidkhonov, Gulom Zafari and Abdurauf Fitrat studied at the madrasah for some time. This is another proof that our country has always been one of the commencements of science and culture.

The phrase that there is no future for a country without historical memory has a universal meaning. Indeed, there are many monuments with a long history in the territory of beautiful Uzbekistan. Visiting them means to feel the history of the path traversed by their ancestors and its power. The visit to the madrasa left a great impression on the students.
