

The future begins from the threshold of the school

The fact that professors and teachers of higher education institutions share their knowledge in the school system is a sign of enlightenment. Because motivating conversations like setting goals and how to achieve them is beneficial for young people. It was necessary to talk about the same topics with 11th graders of secondary school No.56 in Orta Chirchik district, the reason is that last year less student of this school was able to enter higher education. As our President says we need to prepare children for life, not for exams. But it is also difficult for an uneducated student to find a place in life. Work with schoolchildren in this area is attached to the faculty of "Irrigation and Drainage" of our institute. Alisher Fatkhullayev, Dean of the Faculty of Irrigation and Drainage, gave a master class to the graduates of secondary schools No.56 of Orta Chirchik district. It not only helps them to find their talents, but also opens the doors of opportunity and talent.
