

New plans for the new academic year

It is important to mention that all members of the Institute's Women's Advisory Council have done a good job over the past academic year. After all, the effectiveness of work in this area lies, first of all, in the activity of women, carrying out scientific work, organizing spiritual and educational work, as well as creating good conditions for the study and work of our students outside the family.

This is evidenced by the fact that our women used it effectively, especially at the international conference on the problems of women and the role of women in society, as evidenced by the fact that 3 projects of the Institute for "Women's Round 40" announced by the Ministry of Innovation were passed by the MTS. The exchange of views on these issues not only with the republic, but also with all foreign countries prompted our institute to work on big plans.

At the beginning of such events, the contribution of our teacher and leadership was great. It is unfair not to mention them. Thanks. We, the women's team, will always remember the memory of Uktam Pardaevich. May their souls rejoice, O God. Summing up the results of the work done, this year is the academic year "Let's live freely and safely in the new Uzbekistan!" We start by celebrating the 30th anniversary of Uzbekistan's independence under the motto This is also one of the most beautiful messages for all of us. The Institute's Women's Advisory Board has planned a series of festive events under the auspices of the faculties.

At today's meeting, the issues of organizing planned events in accordance with the rules of sanitation and hygiene and their organization by active female members of the team were raised. It is planned that they will conduct a schedule of the House of Mercy, attached schools, field organizations and military universities, as well as the organization of television programs on the channel. This should raise the mood of all the people of Uzbekistan on the eve of the holiday, inform them through conversations, open dialogues about the work that Uzbekistan has done over the years to achieve the future. Dear team members! We cordially congratulate all of you on the new academic year, as well as on the 30th anniversary of the Independence of Uzbekistan. We wish you good health and activity.
