

"Library Day" was held

Organization of "Days of the Department" is one of the most effective forms of activity of the Information Resource Center. On May 17, 2019 IRCS IRC Department of "Irrigation and Amelioration" together with the head of the department B.U.Suvonov held "Day of the Department". At the event, young library staff took part in the event to acquaint the teachers, staff, IRC with highly qualified specialists, including the method of high level of events.

"Day of the Department" is a wide range of services, including the open demonstration of IRC information resources, introduction of the department's new technologies in the work, explaining the interaction of the library with the department .

Initially, the head of the department of scientific-methodological and information-information (periodicals) N. Yu. Milichenko briefed the audience about the agenda of the event. He spoke about periodic publications in the ARM Fund in 2019 and presented the list of Russian magazines on the direction of "Irrigation and Melioration" department.

Attended by the teachers of the department, the main focus of the event is to find and analyze information from the full text database of JURG magazines in IRBIS, improve the efficiency of its use, including the procedures and rules for publishing articles in scientific journals, the issue of electronic software.

Tukhtaeva Feruza Tulkunovna is the head of the department of compilation, cataloging and systematization of information and library resources in the direction of the department, completing the educational process with textbooks and manuals in the direction of the department, and talked about the future prospects of the department, familiarized the participants with the relevant documents.

Head of Information and Library Sources Service Department Shakhzoda Kholmamatovna Nurmatova IRM, electronic textbooks, electronic irrigation and meliorative information resources, as well as IRIS Electronic Library "KITOBXON" automated work about how to find and use the necessary literature on the site.

Work on the use of methodological manuals in the direction of the department was analyzed and its results were evaluated. Based on these analyzes, teachers of the department made a decision on the expediency of use of teaching materials in the field.

The event attracted great interest from the participants. Employees of the department and IRC staff were interviewed as "questions and answers". Head of the Department of Irrigation and Melioration B. U. Suvonov, including IRC staff, expressed hope for further cooperation and communication.

ARM department information

The press secretary of the Institute, Rakhimboy Jumaniyazov