

5 important initiatives through the eyes of young people

The demand of the time is to further increase attention to young people, their wide involvement in culture, art and sports, the formation of skills in the use of information technologies, the promotion of reading books among the younger generation and the employment of women. Time itself shows that where various contradictions are growing, it is more necessary than ever to strengthen the spiritual immunity of our youth, to meaningfully spend their free time. Therefore, special attention is paid to 5 important initiatives put forward by the President. In the hostel of the Faculty of Land Management, sports games have been organized among first-year students, the necessary conditions have been created for their physical fitness, to demonstrate their abilities in sports.
