

Mutual exchange of experience as a basis for development

On April 23, 2021, a group of professors and teachers, deans of Namangan Institute of Engineering Technologies, headed by the vice-rector visited our institute to exchange experiences and get acquainted with the achievements. They visited the faculties, laboratories and departments of our institute and got acquainted with the process of implementation of modern teaching, research, teaching technologies. The guests paid special attention to the process of studying in the credit-module system of freshmen at our institute. It was noted that mutual cooperation, sharing of achievements and exchange of experience in the effective organization of educational, methodological, research and spiritual-educational work are mutually beneficial. It was agreed to establish effective cooperation.
