

Definition of mastering standard

Karshi branch of the Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanisation Engineers on January 25, 2020 at the faculty of Agricultural Mechanisation for the autumn 2019/2020 academic period to determine the level of mastering theoretical knowledge and practical skills by students groups 101-102 from "Foreign languages" (oral), "Water management and land reclamation" in the direction group 104-105 Russian (oral), for students of group 106-117 Geodesy(written), direction "Land cadastre and land use" groups 107- 108 and 109 for Physics (written), "Geodesy and Geoinformatics" for 110-111 groups from History of Uzbekistan (test), "Automation and control of technological processes and production (by branches)" for students of group 112-113 on Engineering Graphics (written) and "Training on the use of hydraulic structures and pumping stations" for the students of group 114 on Chemistry daily controls conducted. The final control began with students singing the national anthem.

Information from IT President Ilkham Ganiev

Press Service of the Institute for Reconstruction and Development Rakhimboy Djumaniyazov