

University of Michigan student receives internship at TIIAME

Meichin Ju, a second-year student at the University of Michigan, is taking an online internship at TIIAME. The internship is based at the Department of Geodesy and Geoinformatics, headed by Sh. Rakhmonov, head of the International Cooperation Department. The internship will last from May through August. To make the most of her free time, Meikhen Ju was recommended to learn the Uzbek language. This was entrusted to M. Gubaeva, a leading teacher at the Foreign Nationals Training Center.

✘ For reference: The University of Michigan is one of the leading universities in the United States, ranked 24th in QS International University Rankings. It has an average of 46,000 students. The University of Michigan is considered one of the leading educational and scientific centers in the United States.

The press-service of TIIAME.