

Talking with the theater

✘ We know that the President of the country put forward 5 important initiatives on starting the new system in the social, spiritual and educational spheres. The first initiative is to promote the interest of young people in music, painting, literature, theatre, and other arts and reveal their talents. Every art has a positive effect on the heart, mind and spirit of a person and has the power to shape his aesthetic taste, enrich his spiritual world, and change his world outlook. Despite the varied art forms, many artists have acknowledged that they are theatrical. From this point of view, the small stage of the theatre fills the hearts with pleasure, enriches human thinking and spirituality.

On January 26, 2020, at 18:00, the Deputy Director of Youth Policy of HIM faculty O. Ruzhibaev and the first-course students took part in a play “Earth will still rotate” written by the playwright Sharof Bashbekov, directed by Olimjon Salimov in the State Drama Theater of Uzbekistan. The play reveals the character, suffering, and dreams of a leader who can lead the nation with the heart of the present, calling for a painful and open dialogue about the obstacles that hinder our people from accomplishing the great tasks given.
