

The staff of the Department of Management took part in the scientific seminar

The staff of the Department of Management took part in the scientific seminar "Sustainable Entrepreneurship: Essence, Objectives, Trends". Presentations were made by Martina Kaitsch, professor of the Norwegian University of Life and Technical Sciences, Trondheim, and Sergey Smirnov, associate professor of St. Petersburg State University, on October 29, 2020. Presentations were made by Professor Martina Keitsch on the topic: "Participatory design, sustainable entrepreneurship and the promotion of local culture - aspects of theory and practice". Candidate of Economic Sciences, Associate Professor Sergei Smirnov "So alike, yes so different: Comparing profile of entrepreneurship in Russia, Ukraine and Belarus." At the end of the seminar, the possibilities of future cooperation in the development of science and education in the field of entrepreneurship were discussed.

Press service of the institute