

The scales of language development

When it comes to the criteria for the existence of all independent states in the world, first of all, its official language is in front of our eyes. one of which is his language. Indeed, the most important sign that a nation is a nation, a nation is a people is its state language. Experts say that while there are 7,000 languages in the world, most of them are becoming extinct. Naturally, a language that is not in use, and a word that is not used are degraded.

President Shavkat Mirziyoyev encouraged us by signing the Decree "On measures to enhance the prestige and status of the Uzbek language as the state language" on October 21 last year at the Tashkent Business Center, at the first large conference on the state language in the Congress Hall.

It is gratifying that in connection with the 31st anniversary of the adoption of the Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan "On the State Language" and the Day of the Uzbek language in different regions, districts, and cities of the country are held educational events on the same date.

One such event was held online on October 20. The event was attended by the head of the Department of State Language Development of the Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan, Professor Abdugaffor Kirgizbaev. The event was also attended by the leadership of the institute, professors, students, graduate students, and guests. The event, which was attended by about 1,000 participants, was moderated by the Institute's Vice-Rector for Youth Affairs Ruzimurat Choriyev.

At the beginning of the event, the rector of the institute, Professor Umurzakov Oktam Pardayevich sincerely congratulated everyone on the holiday. So'ngra A. K. Kyrgyzbaev commented on a number of activities carried out by the department.

The words of the head of our state, "Each of us should pay attention to the state language as respect for independence, respect and devotion to the state language as respect and devotion to the motherland, make such a view the rule of our life," will be a guide for life and development.

It should be noted that today the Department of State Language Development and the Terminology Commission is carrying out a number of practical, positive work on the development and promotion of the state language.

At the literary-educational event "LANGUAGE - OUR DESTINY, OUR HISTORY'S REQUIREMENTS, THE SCALES OF DEVELOPMENT", students read samples of their work, and some students showed videos on language.

The words of the head of our state, "Each of us should pay attention to the state language as respect for independence, respect and devotion to the state language as respect and devotion to the motherland, make such a view the rule of our life," will be a guide for life and development.

It should be noted that today the Department of State Language Development and the Terminology Commission is carrying out a number of practical, positive work on the development and promotion of the state language.

In the words of the President, "Our native language is an inexhaustible source of our national spirituality. Therefore, it is not only our duty but also our sacred duty to show due respect and dignity to it."

It is no coincidence that the President has repeatedly said that the attitude to language should be not only in language and slogans but also in practice. It is no secret that the President sets an example in increasing the role of the state language in socio-economic, official, and political processes. It is no secret that speaking in Uzbek at the 75th session of the UN General Assembly from the rostrum made our people and other fraternal peoples proud. This means that if we all master the language and the culture of speech and apply it in practice, the implementation of the state language will be in practice.
