On May 6, 2020, at the Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanization Engineers Durdona Asilovna Mustafoeva, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of "Pedagogy, Psychology and Teaching Methods" with the participation of professors and teachers of the department "Pedagogy. In the framework of the subject "Psychology" through the online platform Zoom for students of group 2/4 BXA has organized a debate lesson on "Features of education in spiritual and creative activities." Not only students but also the leading staff of our institute R.Choriev and R.Fayzullaev and doctoral students took an active part in the discussion.

In the context of a pandemic, students can exchange views on the social environment in the family, its effects and share them with their peers, as well as types of education, especially social, religious, spiritual, environmental, civic education. In conflict groups and relying on advanced pedagogical technologies in finding their solution, they managed to ensure a more lively discussion of the dispute. Of course, we hope that such online lessons will not only help students to spend their time meaningfully but also to further develop their creative thinking.
